Recognition of Service in Religious Education

As we embark on a new chapter in our children's Religious Education (RE) Program, it is fitting to honor the exceptional dedication Laura Clark has shown to the Midlothian Friends Meeting (MFM) over the past ten years.

A Lifelong Connection

Laura, the daughter of Roselle and David Clark and herself a child of our meeting, grew up immersed in Quaker testimonies and Friends religious education. After her high school years, she continued her commitment to peace, equity and social responsibility by attending Swarthmore College, a co-educational institution founded by Quakers.

Service and Joy

Over the last decade, Laura has brought her lifelong knowledge and Spirit-led energy to our young Friends, teaching almost every second and fourth First Day during this period. Her joy and care have enriched the lives of both the children and the broader meeting. Many of our children have been inspired by Laura's guidance and have looked forward to attending Meeting because of her.

Gratitude and Well Wishes

We express our deep gratitude and love to Laura Clark, thanking her for the strong foundation she has provided. As she continues her career as a teacher and pursues further spiritual growth, we wish her every success on her journey.

Once again, thank you, Laura Clark!
